

A call to all workers!

Digitalization has brought capitalism down,
the burial of the body is still pending!

This is the historic task
of the working class!

The destruction of the environment was caused by the profit economy. Saving CO2 has nothing to do with protecting the environment and saving the climate, but only with keeping the exploitation system alive beyond its death, reducing humanity and plunging it into a nightmare of total surveillance and behavior control.

The climate agenda or the CO2 savings program is deeply anti-worker.

With Agenda21, which was decided at the United Nations climate summit in Rio de Janeiro in 1992, and Agenda 2030, which was decided in Paris in 2015, the globalists have made saving CO2 a program for the entire world, supposedly to save humanity from the climate apocalypse. Their spokesman, Klaus Schwab from the World Economic Forum, said what it was really about: "You will own nothing and you will be happy." It is a program of total expropriation of the 99% and an unprecedented enrichment of the 0.1% who want to own everything.

Agenda21 is the ruling class's anti-worker and anti-human response to the fundamental contradiction of capitalism.

The collapse of production and consumption with its overproduction crises, systematic layoffs, and impoverishment has always been the huge, insoluble problem of capitalism. But with digitalization, the capitalist economic system has reached a point of self-destruction for some time now. A profit can no longer be made on the measurement of the work embodied in a product. The capitalists have long recognized this law of the tendency of the rate of profit to fall.

Capitalism has become its own gravedigger.

All transactions are based on a determination of the value of the products in order to exchange them. This is what the price has done so far. When determining prices via the market, via supply and demand, the natural standard of value of the products, human working time, prevails behind the actors' backs, as Adam Smith, Ricardo and Marx have shown. With digitalization, this natural standard of value, working time, has become the gravedigger of profit.

The abolition of exploitation is on humanity's agenda.

That's why we've been at a crossroads for some time now:

Either abolish exploitation

Massive reduction in working hours and digitalization without layoffs, that is technology development for the benefit of people. Since in capitalism technology is only further developed when workers are released, anything else does not bring profit, a reduction in working hours to the necessary extent would break the system of exploitation.

Or introduce a billionaire-planned-economy with digital slavery

The ruling class has taken this path and is abolishing capitalism itself, the essence of which is free wage labor and the mediation of production and consumption via the market.

They maintain the system of exploitation and their rule by establishing a billionaire-planned-economy with which they overcome all barriers to profit-making.

They want to control production and consumption with the new, pseudo-value measure, the CO2 footprint and the central bank cryptocurrency (CBDC). This give them the freedom to fire as many people as they want.

With the ideology that too many people are to blame for the fantasized climate apocalypse, they legitimize the elimination of the too many eaters, that they themselves have created through layoffs and by plundering the colonial countries.

They are preparing for the greatest genocide humanity has ever seen. The globalists, the 0.1%, talk about reducing 85% of humanity. This is what wars, the infertility of people through gender madness, artificially created pandemics and vaccinations are supposed to bring.

The consistent fight to reduce working hours and the fight against layoffs is a historic task of the working class.

Either abolish exploitation or digital enslavement and population reduction
